PUBLISHER'S WELCOME

Welcome to Northeast Harbor! You have chosen to visit one of the most naturally beautiful places in the country — Mount Desert Island. This PORT DIRECTORY is intended to enhance the time you spend in this area by providing easy access to information about places to stay, things to do and see, activities, and places to dine, among other things.

In the back of the book, you will find an extensive index of merchants. Also useful are the marina rules, rates and telephone numbers, tide charts, museum listings, church services, maps of Northeast Harbor, Cranberry Islands, Bar Harbor and Southwest Harbor as well as a full map of Mount Desert Island in the center section. It is our hope that the Port Directory will serve as a helpful reference book for the visitor, tourist, summer and year-round resident.

We want this publication to be useful, fresh, fun, and appealing. Keep it aboard your boat, in your home, by your phone, or in your car. For additional copies, please ask at a place of business, Chamber of Commerce office, or just contact us. As we are a member of the Maine Tourism Association, our books can also be found at most visitor centers throughout Maine.

This past winter was one for the history books! OK, it really wasn't all that bad; but we've had relatively mild winters for a long time, or so it seems. Mount Desert Island truly does not "roll up the sidewalks" as I've heard it said. There is plenty to do in the winter. You will find an article about just that on page 18. And as I'm writing this in early May, the snow has all melted (I didn't think that would happen this year!), the grass is starting to get green, there are buds on the trees and birds and peepers are filling the air with the sounds of spring. Soon we will have the delightful warmth of summer (aaahhhh!) and then the bursts of red, orange, and yellow in the fall. Life continues, and I for one am looking forward to what will happen in the coming year. Enjoy life while you are experiencing it. And enjoy your time here in Maine, where life truly is the way it "should" be.

Our sincere wishes that you enjoy your time on Mount Desert Island, and thank you for reading the Northeast Harbor Port Directory and Chamber of Commerce Guide.

LOCAL HANDS REACHING OUT

*This year our focus is on Friends of Acadia —
Members and Volunteers Caring for Acadia National Park!

Encompassing 45,000 acres on two islands and a mainland peninsula on Maine's rugged Downeast coast, Acadia National Park is a jewel of pink granite mountains, glacier-carved lakes and coastlines, historic hiking paths and carriage roads, dazzling night skies, and uniquely varied communities of plant and animal life. Attracting more than two million visitors each year, Acadia is one of the ten most popular national parks in the U.S. It is also one of the smallest and most vulnerable.

This is why Friends of Acadia exists. We are an independent organization of passionate people, inspiring those who love this magnificent place to make a real and lasting difference for Acadia. Since 1986, Friends of Acadia has provided a margin of excellence for Acadia National Park through philanthropy, volunteerism, programs, and partnerships. Our mission states: Friends of Acadia preserves, protects, and promotes stewardship of the outstanding natural beauty, ecological vitality, and distinctive cultural resources of Acadia National Park and surrounding communities for the inspiration and enjoyment of current and future generations.

or not exist at all—without FOA's involvement. Programs like the Island Explorer's fare-free bus service, which helps reduce traffic and emissions on Acadia's winding, scenic roadways. Programs like Wild Acadia, building a more resilient ecosystem through invasive plant management, water-quality monitoring, raptor research, and more. Programs like Acadia Trails Forever, which maintains, restores, and extends Acadia's historic hiking trail system. Programs like FOA's youth internships, which solve problems today by putting teens and young adults to work on pressing issues throughout the park and solve problems tomorrow by building the next generation of park stewards.

Island Explorer on Ocean Drive

Friends of Acadia volunteers make a difference for Acadia by contributing thousands of hours of labor each year to trail maintenance and trail-building, carriage road maintenance, gardening in the one-of-a-kind Wild Gardens of Acadia, grooming the carriage roads for cross-country skiing in winter, contacting their legislators about issues that affect the park, picking up trash on Acadia-area shorelines and roadsides, and, for the past few years, helping to plan Acadia's 2016 centennial celebration. Volunteers also serve on internal FOA committees and lend a hand in the office, all of which helps the organization to operate more effectively and efficiently.

Why Friends of Acadia?

We're a leader. Friends of Acadia is not afraid to go out on a limb to solve Acadia's most pressing challenges, trying new approaches and piloting innovative programs. And we're successful and effective when we do—our track record demonstrates this.

We're a partner. Friends of Acadia works with other like-minded organizations, large and small, on programs that work for the good of Acadia National Park and the surrounding communities. These organizations know that Friends of Acadia is trustworthy, dependable, and "plays well with others."

We're a friend. Friends of Acadia represents the collective voice and resources of thousands of members, volunteers, and supporters who love Acadia National Park and want to help care for this precious place. We have a strong working relationship with the park because we have the park's best interests at heart.

There are many ways that you can be a "friend of Acadia" and give back to this amazing place that gives us so much. Membership starts at $35 per year per household. You'll receive FOA's beautiful and informative membership magazine, the Friends of Acadia Journal, three times per year; you can also sign up for our monthly E-News for regular updates on park and FOA happenings. Membership at higher levels includes some additional benefits.

Volunteering is easy! On Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings from June through October, FOA leads drop-in volunteer projects on Acadia's trails and carriage roads. There are always several projects to choose from, with something appropriate for all ages and levels of experience. No need to call ahead—just show up at 8:20 a.m. at the park headquarters on the Eagle Lake Road (Rt. 233) outside Bar Harbor. (We do ask that groups larger than 5 volunteers call 288-8716 in advance, to help plan appropriate projects.) Come dressed for the weather with closed-toe shoes and bring work gloves, if you have them.

Wonderland Granite

Friends of Acadia's two big volunteer events each year are the Earth Day Roadside Cleanup (the last Saturday in April) and Take Pride in Acadia Day (the first Saturday in November). And if you have more time or expertise to commit, other FOA volunteer committees are open to all. Visit the Friends of Acadia website at www.friendsofacadia.org for more information on volunteer opportunities, membership, and all of our programs.

Volunteers at Day Mountain

Acadia National Park was the first national park initially created by private donations of land and the individual efforts of many foresighted and committed individuals. This legacy of private philanthropy for a public treasure is carried on today by the members and volunteers of Friends of Acadia. If you love Acadia, we invite you to be a part of it!

MAINE ART COLONY

An Artist Colony emerged on Mount Desert Island well over a century ago when Thomas Cole brought students from the Hudson River School to paint the incredible landscapes found here on Mount Desert Island.

It continues today. One of the best kept secrets of this area is the beauty of the art that emerges in the oil, watercolors, pastels and photography that artists, ranging in experience from beginners to professional, travel here to witness. The lens or canvas bring to life the rocky coast, working harbors with fishing boats, sailing craft and waves crashing on wharves or the shore. Tree filled glens, rocky outcrops and meandering brooks reach out to the grandeur of the mountains framed by a fire red sunset to inspire the deepest emotions and creative art.

"I don't want to cook ... you either?"

Hmmm ... sound familiar?

Sometimes that's all it takes to make a decision to eat out!

Other times it's just because you're visiting the area and have no way of cooking your meal.

you will find lots of options!

Quick and effortless?

FROM RUSSIA WITH SCHI - MAMA ZENKO'S SCHI SOUP RECIPE

Schi (pronounced "She") is a cabbage soup from Russia dating back to the 9th Century and is traditionally served with rye bread. Russians believe that this soup is good for what ails you, from colds to vodka hangovers.

Ingredients

- 1 lb. of ground sausage
- 1 head of cabbage
- 2 large onions
- 2 ounces of flour (about 1/2 cup)
- 3 pints of chicken stock
- 1/2 cup of tarragon vinegar
- butter, salt, pepper and parsley

Directions

Form Ground Sausage into small meatballs and fry in a frying pan until brown.

Dice onions and chop cabbage. Fry the onion and cabbage together in butter. Add flour and add salt, pepper and parsley as needed.

Pour the onion and cabbage mixture into a sauce pan with stock and cook for 1 hour.

After cooking for 1 hour, mix in Tarragon Vinegar. Add the meatballs, and serve!

BEET & GOAT CHEESE SALAD

Ingredients

- 2-3 medium to large beets, peeled and cut into about 3/4 to 1 inch cubes
- 1/2 oz of goat cheese, crumbled
- 2 - 4 Tbsp. olive oil
- 1/2 - 1 Tbsp. balsamic vinegar
- 1/2 mint or lemon verbena leaves, loosely packed and then chopped

Directions

Preheat the oven to 375°.

In a bowl add 1 - 2 Tbsp. olive oil to beets and toss to coat. Place in a large glass pan and cook in the oven until the beets are tender, about 35 minutes. Stir beets in the oven every 10 minutes or so.

While the beets are cooking, prepare the mint/lemon verbena. Stack the leaves on top of each other and roll them lengthwise (like a tube). Using your knife, slice them into thin ribbons.

In a small bowl, mix together balsamic vinegar with the remaining olive oil (really you can use as much or as little balsamic vinegar and olive oil as you like).

When the beets are cooked, transfer them back to a bowl and put the salad together: combine the beets and balsamic vinegar/olive oil mixture, add the crumbled goat cheese and mint/lemon verbena, toss together and serve. This salad is great served warm or cold!

Directions

Toss candied walnut ingredients together, spread out on baking sheet and roast at 350° for 15-20 minutes, watching carefully until caramelized.

Combine balsamic and sugar in a bowl and allow sugar to dissolve, then add walnut oil and chopped mint. Toss fruit together with balsamic mixture gently. Place in dessert cups and sprinkle with candied walnuts. Garnish with mint.

BLACK BEAN VEGETARIAN CHILI

Ingredients

- 1/2 cup scallions, divided
- 1 jar green salsa
- 2 cans black beans, rinsed and drained
- 1 cup frozen roasted corn (Trader Joe's)
- 1/4 cup chopped cilantro

Directions

Sauté 1/4 cup scallions until soft. Add salsa, beans, corn and 1 cup of water. Bring to a boil, turn down heat and simmer for 20 minutes. Top with remaining scallions and cilantro. I tend to add more veggies, and top with a dollop of Greek yogurt and/or chopped avocado... maybe even cheese.

WHAT DO WE DO HERE IN THE WINTER???

A lot of people who come to Maine to visit wonder just what exactly we do in the winter. Do we hibernate? Well, some of us might! Do we just stay inside for months? Others of us might come close to that. Do we escape to a warmer climate? Well, yes ... quite a few do; and others of us just dream about being someplace warm!

Board games, exercise classes, reading, baking, trips to the library, and shopping! Yes, these are year-round activities. This article is about those who LOVE winter ... and enjoy the playground of downeast Maine!

To be honest, I am one who dreams about being someplace warm, and may even get a chance to spend a few days in Florida, soaking up some rays and nice dose of Vitamin D.

However, I have several friends who love all things winter. Cross country skiing, snowshoeing, winter hiking (yes, up the mountains!), to name just a few more energetic activities.

Make sure to bundle up in layers (it keeps you warmer; and as you exert yourself, you can peel off a layer or two, but not get too cold). This is true whether just playing outside making snow creatures, ice skating, skiing, or hiking.

One friend gave the following insight: I have a pair of running snowshoes that I wear when the snowpack isn't consolidated (for example, after a fresh snowfall) and a pair of spikes for my running shoes for when things have been packed down a bit. It all depends on conditions! Some mornings, Beech Mountain (for example) is packed and solid like a sidewalk. Other times, it might be deep and powdery or slushy and slow going. Acadia's smaller peaks are pretty much accessible to anyone in the wintertime - they see quite a bit of use and the trails get smoothed out nicely. Ice becomes a bit tricky this time of year (written in early spring), especially when we have a nice sunny warm day followed by sub-freezing temps at night. Spikes or Yaktrax can make all the difference. Some people I know will use trekking poles or ski poles for added stability. I usually carry a small backpack with some safety gear inside: map, compass, source of fire, a warm vest, emergency blanket, water, flashlight, spare socks, etc. Not much weight but a good "just in case." Most of the winter I have to use a headlamp, since I'm usually out there before 6 am. I don't know of anyone who shouldn't consider getting out into the mountains in the winter, provided they are able to handle them in the summer. Winter might be the most beautiful season out there and every morning brings something new and different!

© Mike Updegraff

And another friend said it so intriguingly: I love winter hiking; it masks old and familiar trails with ice and snow, which adds a little adventure and thrill for the avid hiker.

The last two statements make me think I might just have to give it a try. I do have cross country skis that I haven't used in years. And I do have snowshoes that I have used only once. I guess my goal is to continue getting fit through this summer and fall so that NEXT winter I might join one of my more adventurous friends on a winter hike.

And, if all else fails, I could at least make snow angels!

According to www.acadia.ws/hikingtrails, Acadia National Park has over 120 miles of hiking trails and paths that range from a category of very easy to strenuous.

These varied and often interconnected trails combine with the Carriage Roads to give the day hiker an attractive array of options to choose from.

On the following pages, you will find a hike using several trails to reach the summit of Sargent Mountain.

The Giant Slide Trail is considered moderate to strenuous, so please take care, and know your limitations! If in doubt, go to acadiamagic.com/acadia-hiking-trails for a partial list of trails with degrees of difficulty.

This is our 8th season of presenting an outdoor activity in the Northeast Harbor Port Directory & Mount Desert Chamber Guide. In the past we have featured hikes, bike rides, a canoe trip and a kayak trip. This year we are presenting a hike up the challenging Giant Slide Trail, then over Gilmore Peak and up Sargent Mountain on the Grandgent Trail, then descending Sargent Mountain back to the Giant Slide on the Sargent Northwest Trail.

Because the footway of the Giant Slide Trail is challenging at times, if you have physical limitations, (ankles, knees, hips), and climbing over big rocks might be too difficult for you, consider the hike presented in the Southwest Harbor & Tremont Port Directory & Chamber of Commerce Guide. That hike will be less physically demanding.

40 - Northeast Harbor Port Directory

www.visitnortheastharbor.com

From the intersection of Routes 233 and 198, go south towards Northeast Harbor. 0.9 mile from this intersection, the trail starts on the left side of the road. The trailhead has been rerouted recently from the Giant Slide Road to a new trail beginning 100 yards north. Park on the same side of the road as the trailhead on the ample shoulder.

The trail starts gently ascending and flattens out through a varied woodland, then over a series of log bridges, (bog walks), that give you an expedient way over some boggy ground. Next you will ascend gently over a slightly rougher path including some stone steps to an open area with light green lichen and terraced ledges. This is posted as a fragile habitat, so please stay on the trail. Lichen is a vulnerable plant made up of algae and fungus and takes decades to recover when trampled.

Back into the woods, the trail flattens out then descends. Shortly you will cross the carriage road that travels between the Parkman Mountain parking area and Aunt Betty's Pond. You have traveled .6 mile.

After crossing the carriage road, the Giant Slide Trail ascends moderately over a rocky path. After more bog walks, the trail comes along side Sargent Brook. As you follow the brook, you will notice that the rocks change into boulders. Steeper and bigger, the trail changes from a walk to a clamber.

You will cross the brook 3 times in the next section, and be confronted with some tricky navigation. You will be deciding which rock to step on while crossing the brook; squeezing over or under a rock obstacle; and picking your way through a steeper, narrow maze of boulders and water.

During high water, the way can be exciting, but treacherous. In late summer, the water is low, but for a 50+ very casual hiker, safer. In any season, there are a couple of deep pools that resist the dry periods and stay pristine.

As you ascend, you realize that you are in a small gorge. This is the Giant Slide. You will come to a sign post; to the left is the Sargent Northwest Trail, to the right is the Parkman Mountain Trail, and straight ahead the Giant Slide Trail proceeds through a narrow cave created by a huge slab of granite resting against the rocky hillside. Continue straight on the Giant Slide Trail. You have now hiked 1.1 miles.

Once through the cave, the trail levels out and crosses the brook three more times, ascending moderately. As you leave the brook to the left, you will travel a level path through the woods. Shortly, you will see the Around

Mountain carriage road on your left .4 mile from the cave.

After climbing up to cross the carriage road, you will pick up the Giant Slide Trail up the road just a little to your right. The trail climbs gently through the valley between Bald Peak on your right and Gilmore Peak on your left. At .2 mile from the carriage road, the Grandgent Trail intersects the Giant Slide Trail. Turn left on the Grandgent Trail.

Climbing moderately over open ledges, the views to the west open up as Bald Peak and Parkman Mountain provide a beautiful vista. As you climb the Grandgent Trail you will follow trail markers called cairns. The type of cairns used in Acadia National Park are specifically named Bates Cairns, (see picture), named after Waldron Bates who was chairman of the Path Committee of the Bar Harbor Village Improvement Association when the Giant Slide Trail was added to the trail system. There is a commemorative bronze plaque on a giant boulder at the junction of the Gorham Mountain Trail and the Cadillac

Cliffs Trail, (on the east side of MDI) that memorializes Bates as "Pathmaker."

The Grandgent Trail is named after Charles Hall Grandgent. He was an accomplished romance language professor at Harvard and chair of the Southwest Harbor Village Improvement Association in the 1920's and 30's.

After .3 mile on the Grandgent Trail you will ascend the summit of Gilmore Peak. The view from the top is Sargent Mountain since it is similar to that of Gilmore Peak, but even better. Leaving Gilmore Peak, you will descend moderately to the short valley before Sargent Mountain. At this point, you will stay left on the Grandgent Trail. The Maple Spring Trail leaves on the right and goes all the way down to Upper Hadlock Pond.

Following the Grandgent Trail, you ascend moderately through the woods, then climb steeply and then less so over open ledges, (there are blueberry bushes here), to beautiful, panoramic views and the summit of Sargent Mountain .5 mile from Gilmore Peak. If you are facing south, (ponds below you and the ocean beyond), you will see ahead Northeast Harbor and the Cranberry Islands. To the right, you will see Southwest Harbor, Norumbega Mountain, Beech and Western Mountains and further on, Blue Hill.

As you continue around to the right, there is just so much to see. The upper parts of Somes Sound and the village of Somesville, Union River Bay, Bartlett's Island and Trenton. To the north, you see past Ellsworth to the hills of Lucerne and further to the right, the mountains of Schoodic.

Descending from the summit of Sargent Mountain, you turn north on the Sargent N.W. Trail. This trail is a very nice walk over pleasant ledges, with continued views of the southwest to the northwest. As you continue on the trail, you will cross a stream bed and then continue over ledges and enter the woods. The descent turns moderate as you cross the Around Mountain carriage road at .7 mile from the summit of Sargent. Another .3 mile of steep descent brings you back to the Giant Slide trail and where you ascended.

At this point you will turn right and continue the remaining 1.3 miles, descending the trail through the lower portions of the Giant Slide and through the level woods back to where you started the hike.

We hope you enjoy your hiking excursion to this part of Acadia. If you would like to share your trip with us, or make suggestions, please write to Bayside Graphics, PO Box 55, Mount Desert, ME 04660, or email us at info@visitnortheastharbor.com.

Come Celebrate Our Past – Inspire Our Future

NEXT YEAR, ACADIA NATIONAL PARK IS HAVING A BIRTHDAY!

ACADIA WILL BE 100 YEARS NEW.

One hundred years ago, Acadia National Park was conserved to ensure that its stunning beauty, natural wonders, and cultural treasures would be protected for the inspiration and enjoyment of all.

This, together with subsequent efforts that created the Acadia we know today, was the achievement of many committed individuals, and we celebrate their foresight and generosity. At the same time, Acadia's centennial is our chance to renew the passion and vision that is the founders' legacy—to ensure that Acadia National Park is protected for generations to come.

On behalf of the Acadia Centennial Task Force, we invite you to celebrate and deepen your relationship to this special place in 2016. Welcome!
